Salem's annual Community Chest campaign officially gets under way tomorrow.

Squads of workers, 100 or more of them, will practically drop their private duties and take up the community task—the task of raising $16,500 necessary to meet the needs of the organizations which participate in the distribution of funds.

As in years past, they will not stop until the goal has been achieved, spurred on by the inspiration and the enthusiasm emanating from a high type of leadership.

For many years a number of men have been intensely interested in the success of the campaign, related so closely with the progress of the community.

Among them are C. C. Gibson, president of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp., and Atty. L. P. Metzger.

Gibson was general chairman one year and on various occasions has served as chairman of the executive committee of the campaign.

His initiative and enthusiasm and his ability to instill this enthusiasm in the other campaign workers have contributed to a great extent toward the success of campaigns for many years.

He was one of the original leaders of this movement and at no time has he ever ceased to have an active interest.

Atty. Metzger might well be called the "man behind the gun" in every campaign since they were started.

He has made a thorough study of campaign methods, worked out most of the preliminary details and has served untiringly without benefit of title.

Both men have given much time, money and effort to make the campaigns successful every year.

Members of the Columbiana County Medical society have been urged to attend the monthly meeting of the group at 9 p. m. Tuesday in the American Legion home in Lisbon. The meeting was postponed from last week.

A brief report of the mid-year conference of the Ohio State Medical association will be given by Dr. Guy E. Byers. Dr. L. A. Cobbs will speak on "The Prevailing Arterial Hypertension." "The Present Status in the Treatment of Endocrine Disturbance" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. J. W. Schoonick of East Liverpool. Dr. V. E. McElowney of East Liverpool will speak on "The prevailing Therapy in Treatment of Hay Fever."

A lunch hour and smoker will follow the meeting, it was announced today by Dr. Paul H. Beaver of Leetonia, secretary-treasurer.

Announcement also was made today of the Ohio State Medical association annual meeting in Cleveland public auditorium, Oct. 7 to 9 inclusive.

Three In Family Die When Flames Hit Frame House

(By Associated Press)

WARSAW, Ky., May 18.—Three members of a family died in the burning ruins of a home which collapsed about them, and authorities sought today to determine the cause of the tragedy as plans for a group burial went forward.

The victims were Martin R. Madin, 57, agent for the Federal Farm Loan bank of Louisville, Ky., his wife, Nanny Ellin, 58, and their daughter, Mrs. Killiam R. Gex, 25. Mrs. Gex's husband alone escaped the inferno, although he was burned and otherwise injured in leaping from a porch roof.

Awakened by his wife's screams of alarm, Gex made his way to a window of the three-story frame dwelling, and believing her close behind, he turned just in time to hear another cry, as flooring, walls and ceiling gave way, plunging her and her parents into the blazing basement.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were recovered three hours later.

No means of fighting the blaze except by bucket brigade, was available. The Madins resided three miles from this little Gallatin county community—situated 35 miles below Cincinnati on the Ohio river—and the Warsaw fire department, responding, could do little because of progress of the fire.

Bench To Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 18.—'Twas a fine spring day, and while a jury debated a damage case, Superior Judge Frank G. Swain went for a swim in a lagoon across the street from the court building.

When a bailiff hailed him from the beach, quoth his honor: "The water's fine. Bring them down and I'll receive the verdict."

So, in dripping trunks instead of the customary black robe, Judge Swain accepted the verdict, dismissed the jury, and resumed his swim.

KENT, May 18.—A crowd of Akron union rubber workers and sympathizers staged an orderly demonstration at the plant of the Black & Decker company yesterday.

Draws Fine of $100 On Traffic Charge

Sam Deszena of 388 Columbus st., arrested by Patrolman R. N. Perry of the local state highway patrol on a charge of driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty before Mayor George Harroff today and was fined $100 and costs.

The mayor also suspended the motorist's driving rights for a six-month period. Patrolman Perry arrested Deszena at 8 p. m. Sunday two miles out on the Goshen road.

Patrolmen Carrol Ruben and A. E. Mercer of the local state police, arrested Fred Rawley of R. D. 5, Youngstown, on a charge of driving while intoxicated at 1:15 a. m. Sunday, after Rawley's automobile figured in a collision on Route 18 near Wickliffe.

Trial was set for Wednesday at Youngstown after he had pleaded not guilty.

Fruit Growers Told To Start Spraying

LISBON, May 18.—County Extension Agent Floyd Lower today informed fruit growers to immediately spray for codling moth, apple scab, curculio and cankerworm.

"This is one of the most important sprays of the season," Lower declared, "and should be applied to all trees, although the bloom may have been light." In some instances, Lower said, a 10-day spray may be necessary, especially if the orchard is adjacent to a woods.

Not the Humidity

CHICAGO, May 18.—It was a warm spring day, but in the apartment of Philip Scops it was a lot warmer. "I asked the janitor to turn on the hot water," he complained to the police. "Instead he turned on the heat. He says I asked for heat and I'm going to get it. We're practically being roasted."

Policeman Edward Palczinski persuaded the janitor to desist.

Heaviest Cleanup In Years Reported

Salem's annual cleanup days were at an end today—one of the heaviest campaigns in recent years.

Service Director Frank Wilson said it required 11 men, working with four trucks, six days to canvass the city for the rubbish. Ordinarily the cleanup takes only three days.

Director Wilson estimated today the workers had made 150 loads to the dumping grounds.

ANGELES CAMP, Calif., May 18.—Twenty-five thousand persons witnessed a hometown frog make good in the annual Calaveras county frog jumping jubilee.

The victor, named "Can't Take It," took three hops for a total jump of 12 feet 3 inches to win the championship final yesterday.

"Jack Dalton," reared on the ranch of the late Will Rogers at Oolagah, Okla., placed second with a three-hop jump of 12 feet 2 inches.

The jubilee is held in commemoration of Mark Twain and his classic short story about the champion frog from a ditch near Clayton.

Search for Convict Turns To Mountains

(By Associated Press)

McALESTER, Okla., May 18.—Expecting momentarily to shoot it out with the leader of last week's daring break from the state penitentiary, a prison posse followed a fresh tip today on the mountain hideout of Claude Beavers.

Four carloads of guards, with a pack of rested bloodhounds, closed in on a sector near Clayton after hearing the weary and footsore ringleader had raided a farm home for food.

Only two others of the original 24 fugitives remained at large. Julius Bohannon was believed to be hiding in the McCurtain county hills where he killed two officers three years ago, and A. C. McArthur apparently had eluded his pursuers.

The farm family was not at home when the starved fugitive dashed from cover. He had been flushed twice by bounds but disappeared into underbrush again before possemen could take him.

A special section of frames, known as the Court of Honor and containing the world's greatest rarities, is the most valuable exhibit in the Grand Central palace, Harris reported.

OBJECTION NO. 3

When President Roosevelt proposed retirement of oldsters and barring of youngsters as a likely cure for unemployment several weeks ago, he started a lively argument.

Within a few days the outline of opposition was sketched by critics, who pointed out that the principal thing wrong with the proposal was the assumption that by curtailing employment the country could increase its income. That was Objection No. 1.

Objection No. 2 was the statistical evidence that the total of all the oldsters and youngsters who might be taken out of employment was relatively too small to make any perceptible difference in the number of jobs available to other employables.

Objection No. 3 has been a long time emerging, but finally it has come out in a roundabout way. Oldsters, it seems don't take kindly to the theory that they should retire to the chimney corner and spend the rest of their days in quiet rumination.

Gov. Curley of Massachusetts, new deal sympathizer, has proposed a test to determine the fitness of judges more than 70 years old. To date, the governor has been challenged to a bout of fistfights by one 74 year old jurist and accused of "murder in the first degree by the Boston Bar association.

In other words, human feelings must be considered when the right to be active is being determined by social doctors. As soon as the youngsters have manifested their opposition (that will be Objection No. 4) it should be plain that the country isn't keen about letting legislators have authority to say who shall and shall not have a right to work.

SOMETHING DIDN'T TURN UP

The general assembly, which will be reconvened this week to consider the problem of exhausted relief funds in certain counties, faces a situation which cannot be called surprising.

The assembly, like all other legislative groups, including congress, has been dealing with unemployment in the expectation that something would turn up. So far it has been disappointed.

Nothing has turned up. That was the way things usually turned out for the famous Mr. Micawber, who exploited the "turning up" philosophy so persistently. But, as was the case with Mr. Micawber, something may turn up yet.

If and when it does, Ohio, the 47 other states and the federal government will get relief from relief. Instead of appropriating as much money as they can find and knowing almost certainly it will not be enough, they will be able to make smaller appropriations and come out even, or possibly ahead.

Until it happens, however, Ohio's experience will continue to be the rule. There will be recurrent "emergencies" and urgent requests for extra assistance. Relief rolls will stay large when they are expected to get smaller. Employment will lag when it is supposed to spurt.

Eventually, unless the world has become permanently topsy-turvy, something will turn up. Mr. Micawber's optimism may be foolish a good deal of the time, but it is based on the well established probability that nearly everything eventually will be all right—or at least better.

THE STARS SAY

For Tuesday, May 19

An extremely lively day is forecast from the lunar transits, one in which there may be some surprising and perplexing situations, possibly of devastating force. There may be sudden upheavals with unexpected change or travel. If this be in connection with rings, mergers, secret societies or in affairs of diplomacy, conspiracy or stratagem, there may be startling benefits.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of rather peculiar and surprising adventures, with sudden moves and probably upheavals. If instigated by mergers, combines, secret bodies or in strategic projects, benefits may be expected.

A child born on this day may have a peculiar and restless disposition, much enterprise and ardor, but also a reckless and curious urge to adventure and speculation. It may be difficult to understand or control.

Notable nativity: Samuel G. Blythe, author.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 18—Diary: Up and a note from Monty Bell filming in India. And out walking a way with Ted Woodyard exchanging jape and quiddity. Then by the Ritz Carlton to see John Ringling, of the circuses, and in the foyer I bespoke myself to a lady I did not know, thinking she was Ina Claire.

So to the Colony for a late breakfast with my lady and was hospiten twice to eggs Florentine. Afterward shopping and to call on Estelle and Gelett Burgess but they were out, and we by tram to Lucy Virginia Long's at Greenwich, as restful a country estate as ever I lazed about.

Home in the moonlight having missed Kay Brush's dinner bid and also seeing her guests, Irma and Rube Goldberg and the Arthur William Browns.

Worked furiously until late and then reading the English edition of Dalton Trumbo's "Eclipse", which he is gracious enough to say I inspired.

An increasing number of stage and screen folk are nibbling ends of pens and gazing reflectively out windows in the tantalizing throes of literary creation. Peggy Wood recently enlarged her writing horizon with another full length novel of back stage doings. She has in the past written a novel, several short stories, essays and a preface to a modern edition of her father, Eugene Wood's "Back Home." Mary Pickford has turned out three volumes in a year. Joan Crawford is romored flirting with a historical fantasy. And Cissie Loftus is planning her memoirs. So is Ethel Barrymore.

Broadway went for pixilation in a big way. It was soon being lyricized on the air and in cabarets. Gary Cooper brought it out of the moth balls in a recent film. It's an old New England expression derived from the English word pixie—meaning elves, and often resurrected in a whimsy by Alexander Woollcott. In a slang way out in Ohio pixilation meant a bit balmy. Silly Tom was pixilated and so was Ida Strump who chewed snuff, lived across the creek and came to town in her bare feet. All of us O-fellers, coin jinglers and button tuggers are pixied.

Personal nomination for the up and comingest of the young orchestra leaders—Russ Morgan.

I talked to a kindly gentleman today who was in a state of utter dejection. In his morning mail he received a most unjust, sarcastic letter from one of his intimate friends—a friend since preparatory school days. It was filled with invective over a situation for which he was blamed and with which he had nothing to do. The recipient spent several hours thinking up a reply and then in a flash inspiration wrote across the envelope "Opened by Mistake," and returned it.

Milady's hat continues to dwindle. A collection of them raked from smartly coiffed heads at any Colony luncheon would scarcely suffice for a dozen pen wipers. Just a dab of felt or something and there you are! And removing bonnets at the theatre is lost motion. Nobody minds the hats. Yet milliners say the new diminutive style is the most difficult of all to fashion. Mrs. Byron Foy, one of the town's better dressed matrons, is the most auspicious exponent of the tiny hat. A runner-up is Mrs. Orson Munn. A number of their models would just about cover the palms of their hands. No one seems to know exactly where the craze came from. Some say Paris and others it was the sly conceit of that pair of side-splitting harlequins who milliner to the haute monde along the select shopping district of Madison avenue—John-Fredricks.

Bagatelles: Idwal Jones makes a hobby of Chinese politics. Laurette Taylor's son, Dwight, and daughter, Marguerite, are story editors in Hollywood studios. Dorothy Herbert, circus rider, is adept at silhouette cutting. Bill Farnsworth, New York sports writer and editor, has such a carefully indexed mind that he never has to turn to reference books. Harry Evans is considered by even the experts of Harlem the best of the truckin' dancers.

He was a flop-eared longhorn who came out of a revolving door of the Roosevelt, pell mell, as though expecting a kick from behind. "Can't expect a fellow to get the hang of them in two days," he grinned to the starter.

In the Poet's Corner in Westminster Abbey are those remembered lines, "Life's a jest—all things show it—I always thought so—now I know it." But I can never recall who wrote them. And then there was that amusing Punchinello guide who used to intone about Milton: "He wrote 'Paradise Lost,' his wife died, and he wrote 'Paradise Regained.'" Unconscious humor out of the Abbey!

Winifred Bayer, 16-year-old Jamaica, L. I., high school girl, wanted to prove to her father that anyone could make a parachute jump. The girl was already on the wing of the ship, over Jamaica Airport, when her pilot noticed that the rip cord of her chute had been pulled. Fearing it might become tangled in the plane the pilot motioned her back into the cockpit. In making the jump back, the girl hit the control stick, causing the plane to go into a sideslip, but a safe landing was made. Miss Bayer was so disappointed she burst into tears after they got out of the plane.

Diathermy

Not long ago I told you about the methods of treatment used in "physical therapy." I pointed out that physical therapy employs the natural forces, such as light, heat, air and water. Also, exercise and massage are included in this system of treatment and cure of certain ailments. Today I want to tell you about "diathermy," another form of physical therapy.

Heat has always been used as a curative measure for certain ailments. Our forefathers used heated soapstones, bricks, flintstones and even utilized jars filled with hot water.

In this modern day heat is used for the same ailments but it is applied in a more scientific manner. Diathermy is the use of a "high-frequency" electric current which generates heat in some portion of the body.

By means of this device, heat may be brought to the area that needs it and will be benefited by the application.

Not a "Cure-All"

Diathermy is not a "cure-all." In fact, it may be harmful when used in certain conditions. For this reason the lay public is advised not to purchase so-called diathermy machines for self-use. Wrongly used it may lead to further irritation and inflammation of the affected part. Let your doctor decide whether you require diathermy treatment.

No one should be permitted to handle a diathermy machine or direct its application unless he is familiar with the exact use and limitations of this form of treatment. Your doctor is qualified and he alone is in a position to determine whether or not you should receive diathermy.

The use of diathermy may be either medical or surgical. The medical form is used in the treatment of arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, pneumonia and other inflammations.

Art Fund Founder

mations. When used for destruction of a tumor, cyst or other growth, it is spoken of as surgical diathermy.

Different Now

The modern diathermy machine is quite different from that used several years ago. The engineering profession, with the cooperation of the medical profession, has perfected this machine and improved its usage. No doubt many of my readers will recall the startling noises and flashes of electricity that occurred when the old type machine was used. All this has been done away with and the machine is compact, noiseless and efficient.

When properly controlled it has great value. If you have been advised to receive diathermy treatment, do not hesitate to have it. It is not dangerous in skilled hands and is extremely beneficial in certain afflictions.

MORE THOUGHT IS GIVEN TO THE EYES

It is true that more thought is being given to eye welfare than ever before. Yet much still remains to be recognized by the public. Errors of vision and their detrimental effects are more prevalent than in generally supposed. Every reader of our talks should ask himself seriously if he is sure about his eyes. If not, he should have them examined at once.

CHAPTER XXIII

When David had departed, Tyler took Ruth to her room and then returned to the house to see Nat. He told him about his talk with Carlotta in the garden. Nat was deeply puzzled.

"Do you think she was really trying to protect Doris—or very subtly trying to incriminate her?" he asked.

"I wish I knew," Tyler sighed.

Then he told him of Ruth's latest warning, of the conversation with Karase, the decision to take Doris to Dr. Peters' sanitarium and Doris' instantaneous reaction to it.

"That's perfectly natural," said Nat defensively. "She is terribly afraid of Helene. She doesn't want that far away."

Tyler shrugged. Nat glanced at his watch, then said: "I—I suppose you know about—Doris and Helene?"

Tyler smiled.

"It's fairly obvious," he said. "Then you can understand my position," said Nat. "I'm a prejudiced observer, of course. She could have done anything like this. Yet appearances—some one is trying to make it look as if she—"

"I know how you feel," said Tyler. "I ask you something. From your experience with mental cases, do you say there was any sign of anger in any of these?"

Nat shook his head.

"No," he said. "I'd say they were normal people. Of course, I've never seen Helene since—since the shock. It's possible that such a shock to one so young, might—"

"Unbalance her mind temporarily. That might account for her actions about Doris. Because they're delusions!"

"Wasn't speaking of Helene," Tyler quietly. "I mean, could it be possible that one of the—"

"You mean Doris?" Nat cried.

Tyler, it's utterly impossible to me to suspect her!"

"I know," said Tyler sympathetically. "But if she's—"

"Phase!" said Nat.

He says that when you fell through those curtains—there was terrible pain in your heart," said he gently. "And a name in your mind—her name?"

Nat nodded.

"It was an awful shock to see her standing there," he admitted. "I suppose there did flash across my mind. . . . But now, I simply can't encompass the possibility that—"

"Only insanity could drive her to such a thing. And—well, I'm sure Doris is not insane."

There was a long knock at the door. Tyler went to it. Johnson was in the hallway. He looked at her inquiringly.

"Could I have a word with you, please?" he asked.

"Certainly," said Tyler. "Come in."

Johnson closed the door behind him and advanced to Nat's side.

"I don't know exactly how best to say it," he said.

"Speak freely," Tyler urged.

Johnson looked at Tyler steadily. "I'm not a fool," he said. "I know all the points to this attack. Miss Helen being made from inside the house. And since it's impossible that Mr. David or Miss Karase or Mrs. Gordon could be involved—that puts it squarely up to you. Do you think the attack was from the inside?" asked Tyler.

"What else can any sensible person think?" asked Johnson. "Mr. David. I've spent sixteen years with this family. I've seen those children grow up. I love them. I'd gladly give my life for any of them. And I am in a position that would make anyone but those fine people suspect me."

"I'm sure they don't," said Tyler. "Do you, sir?" asked Johnson.

"I suspect no one," said Tyler. "And everyone."

Johnson looked at Nat, who nodded in agreement.

"I feel that I've got to clear this up," said Johnson. "I want to know. I'd want to know, of course. Let me tell you what kind of man Mr. Gordon is: Last year, when I had completed fifteen years' service, he called me in, told me he had invested the sum of thousands of dollars for me, and asked that I retire."

"That was generous," commented Nat.

"He's the most generous man I've ever known," said Johnson warmly. "I—I have no life outside of this house—"

"You—called me—dear," she said. "Oh, Nat, you do love me?"

hold, gentlemen. I wouldn't know what to do with myself. I refused to retire. But he insisted on my taking the benefit of the investment. I have no need of money. I've no one but myself. I—I'd like to make that money available to you—to help clear this thing up."

"Thank you, Johnson," said Tyler. "That won't be necessary. But we'll be glad to have your help."

He rose and extended his hand. Johnson, seemingly much affected, took it.

"Thank you, sir," he said. "You'll call on me—for anything?"

"We will," said Tyler.

Johnson bowed and left the room. Tyler stared after him thoughtfully.

"That man's either a consummate actor—"

"Or utterly and touchingly faithful," Nat finished. "Which do you think?"

"I wish I knew," said Tyler.

While Helen was being prepared for the journey, Dr. Grace visited Nat, looked at the wound, nodded with satisfaction and changed the dressing.

"Any reason why I shouldn't get up?" Nat asked.

"I think not," said Dr. Grace. "But take it very easy. I'll drop in some time tomorrow."

Dr. Grace bade him good day, then, and went to find Johnson to ask him to assist Nat to dress. This was managed without too much difficulty, and Nat descended to the living-room. There was no one else there. He stepped out into the warm sunshine, strolled across the garden to the fountain.

Here, only a few hours ago, he had held Doris in his arms. He sat on one of the benches, facing the fountain. He closed his eyes, pictured her as she had been in the moonlight. Then, like an evil dream, he saw her again as he had seen her when he had fallen into her room, standing in the open doorway with dilated eyes. Resolutely he shut that vision from his mind.

Presently he heard voices, glanced across the garden and lawn, saw them all come out on the porch, group about Helene. He rose hurriedly and went toward them.

Carlotta and Doris kissed Helene.

She was utterly unresponsive. Tyler and Gordon helped her into one of the big cars, took seats on either side of her. The chauffeur started down the driveway. Dr. Grace followed in his car.

The group on the porch waved and Tyler waved back, reassuringly. Carlotta excused herself and went into the house. Johnson walked off toward the main gate. Doris turned to Nat.

"I'm—glad to see you're up, Nat," she said. "How do you feel?"

"Great," he said.

"You ought to stay out in the sun today," she said.

"Good idea," he said. "How about the sand over by the pool?"

He took her arm casually. She gave him a quick, grateful look. Then they strolled toward the green pool. Both were silent until they had reached the sand. Nat stretched out, and Doris sat beside him. He shaded his eyes and looked at her. She was regarding him gravely.

"Nat," she said. "It was—wicked of me to say what I did about Carlotta."

"You were just excited, dear," she said. "You looked at him strangely."

"You—called me—dear," she said. "Oh, Nat, you do love me?"

"You know I do," he said.

He extended his hand, caressed her arm. He felt it tremble.

"Nat," she said. "Somebody tried to make it look as if I—"

She paused, gave a little sob. His pressure on her arm tightened reassuringly.

"You—you have faith in me?" she whispered.

He nodded, his heart too full to speak. She smiled at him, bravely. He lay back, grateful for the sun. She began to stroke his hair. The sun warmed his body, and the carress his heart.

Dr. Peters was expecting them. He shook hands with Dr. Grace, who introduced the others. Helene was made comfortable in a large and airy private room overlooking a small artificial lake. Her father kissed her good-bye. She merely stared at him dully.

"We'd like to talk with her, just as soon as she is entirely able," Tyler said, when they had returned to Dr. Peters' office.

The physician nodded.

"I'll telephone as soon as I'm sure she's quite normal," he said. "Probably a day or two of rest will fix her up. She seems strong and healthy."

"One more thing," said Tyler. "It's important that no one talks to her before Mr. Gordon and myself."

"So Dr. Karase said," said Dr. Peters. "I assure you no one will."

Dr. Grace left them in front of the sanitarium and drove up in his own car. The men were silent as they were driven swiftly back toward the house. When they were a mile from the estate, Tyler turned to Gordon.

"Mr. Gordon," he said. "I'm well acquainted with the new police commissioner of New York city. He was a detective assigned to my office when I was district attorney. I suggest this as an excellent opportunity to go have a talk with him."

Gordon hesitated.

"I can assure you he will treat whatever we say as strictly confidential," Tyler smiled. "Under the vest, as they say in the department."

The Home Kitchen

When the raspberry season comes along we hope that you will make use of this most delectable fruit and prepare some of the sweets for which we give recipes.

An easily-made pudding calls for a buttered mold or basin lined with slices of sponge cake or well-buttered bread, cut thin. Put in some sweetened, stewed raspberries, then a layer of cake, alternating until full. Cover with a plate or weight to press the mixture down and leave to cool for an hour or so. Turn out into a glass dish and serve with cream.

For a delicious raspberry dish stew one pound raspberries with two ounces of powdered sugar until soft. Mix in one ounce of cornstarch, then let the mixture cook for three more minutes. Beat in the yolks of two eggs, one cup of milk and stir all together over the fire until the mixture begins to thicken. Line a pie dish with short pastry and pour in mixture. Bake for 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Beat the egg whites into a stiff froth, add a little powdered sugar and spread over the top. Put back in oven to set.

Raspberry Foam Mold
For raspberry foam mold, delicious with ice cream or a custard, stew a pound of fruit until tender in three-quarters of a pint of cold water. Strain, sweeten to taste and put in a clean pan to boil. Add two ounces cornstarch which has been mixed to a paste with cold water, also a little lemon juice and color-

HAUPTMANN CASE CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Franklin W. Fort Fights Gov. Hoffman For Delegate Position

TRENTON, N. J., May 18.—Injection of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's intervention in the Bruno Hauptmann case as an issue heightened interest today in Tuesday's presidential preference primary test between forces of Alf M. Landon and William E. Borah.

Making the Hauptmann case his only issue Franklin W. Fort fought the governor for one of four places as delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.

Election Assured
O. D. Keep, Fort's campaign manager, charged that although Fort was assured of election, defeat of Hoffman was not sure because of a "deal" between Hoffman and Frank Hague, state Democratic leader, "which calls for the casting by machine Democrats, voting as one-day Republicans, of at least 25,000 'bullet' votes for Hoffman."

Keep called on Republicans to vote for a full slate of four in the field of five marking their ballots for all but Hoffman, lest one of the noncombatant candidates become the beaten one.

Both Hoffman and Fort are pledged to Landon.

Bracketed with former Ambassador Walter E. Edge, Mrs. Edna B. Conklin, national committeewoman, and Edward D. Duffield, Newark insurance executive, as the four candidates for delegate-at-large having Republican state organization support, the governor fought to finish first.

Confronted with reports of sizeable fort strength in the northern New Jersey suburban area, Hoffman campaigned as intensively as he has held.

Neither Governor Landon nor Senator Borah formally entered the New Jersey presidential preference primary, but supporters posted their names and delegate slates in almost all the state's fourteen congressional districts.

On the Democratic side, Henry T. Breckinridge, legal adviser to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, ran in the presidential primary unopposed, but the Democratic state organization of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City was running delegates to their national convention pledged to President Roosevelt. The Hague candidates were certain of election.

Ex-Film Star Sues Brokerage Concern

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, May 18.—Mary Miles Minter, the golden-haired screen star of 15 years ago, was cast in the courtroom role of a plaintiff today in a $750,000 suit.

The slender ex-star—she dieted away 90 pounds in recent months—is suing Blyth & Co., stock brokers, and their predecessors. She charges that Leslie B. Henry, now serving a prison sentence for defalcations of bonds and other securities of Miss Minter and her relatives, acted as agent for the firm of Blyth, Wittmer & Co., with which he was connected at the time.

Miss Minter has figured in several court actions here since the days of her screen prominence, during which she is reported to have earned $1,000,000. In 1925 she filed a suit for an accounting for large sums she said she had given her mother and sister.

STRIVE TO MAKE TAX BILL SOUND

New Dealers Hope Agreement Will Come On Program Soon

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Striving to make the program bill, new dealers hoped today that a series of votes in the senate finance committee would result in an agreement on a bill which could be reported to the senate floor swiftly.

The committee had before it a formidable array of plans, suggestions, counter-suggestions and compromises. The effort was to pick and choose among these, with the committee approving or disapproving them one by one until a majority could be mustered for some particular program.

A survey of committee members indicated that when the bill emerges it will be featured by a flat tax on all net corporate income (similar to the present tax of 12 1/2 to 15 per cent); will include some sort of surtax on undistributed corporate profits, and will impose the normal income tax on dividends, which now are subject only to surtaxes.

Strong opposition faced a proposal to boost the normal individual income tax rate from the present 4 per cent to 5 per cent.

On the success of the drive for agreement hangs the leaders' hopes of adjourning congress within three weeks. If the committee has to throw up its hands without agreeing on a plan, a long and complicated fight on the floor of the senate will threaten.

While the house considered minor matters, the senate had the London Naval treaty before it for ratification.

OHIO ASSEMBLY FACES PROBLEM

Plans Proceed for Extension of Program After July 1

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 18.—Works Progress Administration officials today went ahead with plans to continue their program after July 1, original date set for its termination, while a task of raising between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 for direct relief lay in the vacant chambers of the Ohio legislature.

The legislature, returning from a six-week recess Wednesday, probably will consider nothing but the relief problem created, state relief commission officials said, by failure of the last $11,500,000 emergency relief measure to function properly, coupled with refusal of a number of counties to approve proposed utility excise bonds in last Tuesday's balloting. The last measure expires July 1.

No Word From Capital

A WPA spokesman said that while the WPA had received no definite word from Washington on possible continuance of the program, "every plan has been made to continue, if and when congress approves the new appropriations bill with possible amendments to take care of the WPA."

Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA chief, sent instructions several weeks ago to all district WPA supervisors to line up possible projects for execution and completion after July 1. WPA employment last week was 157,000, thirty thousand workers under the March peak. The spokesman said it probably would drop to 145,000 by the middle of June and added that indications pointed to a large number of the workers cut off going into private employment.

He said reports of case loads in the 10 most populous counties showed steady drops in the direct relief burden.

Counties Without Funds

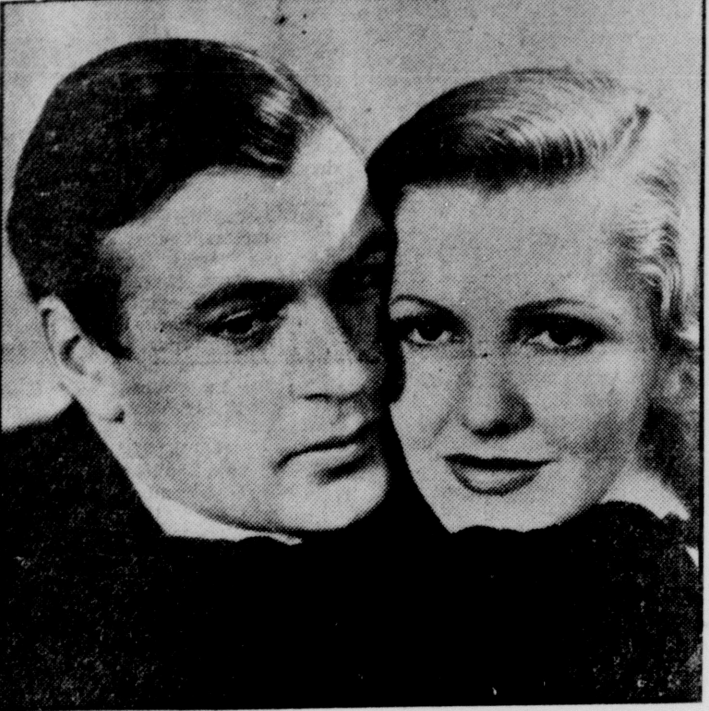

State relief commission officials, however, said that Lucas county was without any relief funds and in debt more than $300,000, with Cuyahoga, Ashtabula, Columbiana, Allen, and Wood counties in similar difficulties.

Only $85,000 has been advanced from the $3,000,000 rotary fund included in the appropriation because none of the counties eligible for advances have made provision for returning them.

Counties were expected to fight to have the new relief law provide for allocations on the basis of need. The present law calls for allocations on a basis of 1933 expenditures.

Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur who star in the comedy drama, at the State tonight and tomorrow.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," which opened at the State yesterday, continues through today and tomorrow. Frank Capra directed Jean Arthur and Gary Cooper in this sparkling, merry film, which is said to be the "It Happened One Night" picture of this year.

Cooper as Mr. Deeds is a small town boy who falls heir to $20,000,000. This "hick," as he is called, does not give a hoot about the money. He wants to be left alone in his small home town, where he is having a grand time playing the tuba in an orchestra and serving as a volunteer fireman.

However, he is brought to New York and dropped in the midst of a bunch of grafters. Jean Arthur, a sob sister on a metropolitan paper, is assigned the task of getting a story on Deeds. She not only scoops all her rivals but falls for the young man. The stories she turns in make Deeds so unhappy he decides to give his money to the needy. Immediately his attorneys have him arrested for insanity. Then Deeds has to fight in court to prove he is sane.

Return Engagements

The return engagements of "The Big House" and "Dancing Lady" make up the bill at the Grand tonight. Wallace Berry may be seen in his most famous role that of Butch the prison rioter in the picture "The Big House." Others in the cast are Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery, Lewis Stone and Lelia Hyams.

"Dancing Lady" marked Fred Astaire's first appearance on the

A Review of the Day's News
—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)
AMERICANS ask three questions. "What is the news? Who won the game? Have you heard the story about—?" For that reason the successful newspaper pays attention first to the news, told accurately and vividly, then it concentrates on sport, then on humor. Such dry things as opinions, editorials, books, in the rear. Fiction ought to be number four, but good fiction is scarce and the other kind not worth printing. Some news follows that is the business of this column.

FOR SOVIET Russia, earth's greatest military land power, Ivan Maiksky, ambassador to England, announces that Russia will build battlefleets to match those of Germany and Japan. They are her two enemies.

You notice that, before bothering with floating targets for air bombs, Russia built a great submarine fleet to attack from below, and what is perhaps the world's greatest air fleet to attack from above. Also, on land she has the greatest army in the world, more than a million men under arms, plus a great fleet of "war tanks," that travel on land or water, and the world's largest body of trained pilots. Somebody in Russia must be intelligent.

Prime Minister Baldwin of England contemplates the League of Nations, after the head-on collision with Mussolini, and decides that the machine is as good as ever. In fact, with a little touch of paint, "the old bus" may be made a new car. Mr. Baldwin assures 7,000 British women that he can catch up the League so that Uncle Sam, Germany and Japan will all join.

MEANWHILE, Guatemala resigned from the League yesterday. Argentina is restless about the anti-Italian sanctions; the whole of South America may quit the League, and Mussolini says his warning to Europe that "military sanctions" against Italy would mean a European war is now extended to any "increased" economic sanctions.

THE LATE Jere Dunn, hardest rough-and-tumble fighter in America, sitting in the old Hoffman House cafe, opposite Bouqueret's painting of Diana and the Nymphs—you are too young to remember that—telling Ed Stokes, who shot Jim Fisk, that "when one man really wants to fight, he usually finds that the other one wants to quit." Among dictators, Mussolini is Jere Dunn.

AMY MOLLISON, a very determined young English woman, flew to London from Cape Town, breaking the world's record by 1 day, 14 hours and 19 minutes. She made the round trip in 7 days, 22 hours 43 minutes. Look that up on the map.

Such a girl might be the mother of another Alexander or Napoleon, only better. And remember, Amy Mollison, a great baby excels any flying record.

HOWARD HUGHES, American, who has some millions and flies "for fun," has just broken the record from Chicago to Los Angeles, early lunch in Chicago, in Los Angeles in time for dinner. Flying time, 8 hours, 10 minutes, 25 seconds. The "fast train" takes 52 hours. W. A. Harriman's new train will cut that.

IF YOU play golf you will want to know that young lady from Texas, Mrs. Goldthwaite, of Fort Worth, yesterday beat the English women champions.

She "went out" in 37 and "came back" in 38, or 36 holes in 75.

THE MOST powerful baby this writer ever saw was a little girl sitting on her mother's lap near Fort Worth, Texas. Perhaps that was the wonderful Texas girl golf player from Fort Worth; perhaps

A police boat rescued almost 100 children marooned in the lobby of a suburban Omaha theater. Scores of persons taken from water-bound automobiles in boats.

Rain, lasting about an hour, totaled 2.66 inches. Hail, which drifted as much as four feet deep against some walls and banks, caused widespread damage to the fruit crop. Some livestock was reported drowned in creek floods.

EVERY intelligent person needs to know about words. They are the tools of the brain. For that reason you will enjoy reading, if you can get it. "Words and Their Ways in English Speech," written by Professors Greenough and Kittredge of Harvard university.

A few samples: Bedlam is short for Bethlehem, an establishment in London dedicated to St. Mary of Bethlehem, which charitably look care of lunatics. The English like brevity, and called it "Bedlam."

Their expression, "bloody," frequently used by certain classes, is short for "by our lady," and sounds is short for "God's wounds."

THE BEST language, like the best race, is the one most thoroughly mixed, and English is the most mixed language. Latin, Greek, French, Arabic are a few of many "tongues" that doubtless originated with the Tower of Babel, to find a home in England.

Enthusiasm is a Greek word that means "inspiration," to be possessed by a divine spirit, from en, meaning "in" and Theos, meaning "God."

Without enthusiasm, no inspiration, and with no inspiration nothing else is worth while.

The writer has written a brief review of this book for tomorrow's New York American.

You should read that book about words; public libraries have it. The authors say, concluding their volume, "words are the signs of thought and thoughts make history."

Thoughts also make men, changing them slowly from savages.

GOOD NEWS for the army of jobless husbands. Mrs. Sally Pickler, separated from her husband, earning wages, $2,500 in the bank, is ordered to pay $5.75 a week to her jobless husband. She makes $20 a week "removing warts and superfluous hair." The judge forbids her husband to annoy her. She may stop paying when he gets a job.

Mrs. Pickler didn't care about the money, but she wept because she said:

"I am a lone woman, and it is a disgrace for me to have to support a man."

She would be surprised to know how many other ladies are doing that.

Not Any Different
CLEVELAND, May 18.—Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock Exchange, arrived here for the convention of the associated stock exchanges today with the "hope we will have made some change" in the public's opinion of the New York Stock Exchange.

"I have been going about the country, chiefly to show Americans outside of New York that we New Yorkers aren't different from them," he said. "A lot of people, you know, have the idea that a Wall Street is a member of a different race."

STATES DEMAND FLOOD CONTROL

Delegations From Flood Areas Hold Meeting In Washington

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Delegations of northeastern states for immediate passage of flood control legislation were presented today at a mass meeting of delegations from flood-stricken areas.

Flood control groups, women's clubs and civic bodies from Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, New England and other states heard speakers say, in effect, it must be now or never for flood control measures by the federal government.

State Senator W. B. Rodgers of Pittsburgh, Pa., chairman of the meeting and president of the tri-state authority which arranged it, said he questioned whether the stricken states ever could get congress to take remedial measures if they were unable to do so after the disastrous floods of last spring.

"We fear nothing but delay," Rodgers said.

Rodgers said he approved the present Copeland-Wilson omnibus flood control bill, authorizing a total expenditure of $369,000,000, but he desired to remove the "local participation in the cost" feature, which calls upon the states and localities to pay for land damages, rights-of-way and the relocation of roads.

The senate is scheduled to act on the bill tomorrow.

The bill includes $55,000,000 for construction of flood control works to protect Pittsburgh, $14,000,000 for the northern and western branches of the Susquehanna river in Pennsylvania, and $27,000,000 for southern New York and northern Pennsylvania.

It was given in two cases involving the secretary's power under the 1921 packers and stockyards act. Rates were reduced by Wallace in an order issued Jan. 8, 1934. It was modified upward somewhat on March 12.

Wallace was sustained by a three-judge federal district court and the dealers appealed to the supreme court.

Later, on Oct. 19, 1935, the commission men published a new set of higher rates to become effective Nov. 1, 1935. Wallace returned the schedule without calling a hearing to determine whether it was reasonable. The dealers contended it became effective and were upheld by the same three-judge federal court.

Warren Harding High Wins N.E.O. District Track, Field Meet

Eight Salem Hi Thinclads Qualify For State Meet at Columbus; Canton Second

Roy Switzer Captures Individual Honors and Leads Palestine Into Third Place; Lowell "Rib" Allen Gives Vaulting Exhibition

For more than 10 years an also ran in district track and field competition, Warren Harding High school came into its own to annex the Class A title of the southern half, northeastern Ohio meet at Reilly stadium Saturday.

Canton McKinley finished second to Warren after the two teams had battled for the lead throughout the meet. It was not until the last two events had been run off that Harding High finally went out in front. Warren's final total was 50 1-11 points to 44 1-11 for Canton.

Salem High with 24 13-22 points was fifth behind Youngstown Rayen, fourth in the meet with 27 and East Palestine, third, with 29.

Eight of the Quaker thinclads qualified for the state meet in Columbus May 29 and 30. They were: Paul Roelen, who won the mile run; Max Lutsch, who won the high jump; Bruce Whitcomb, who tied for second with three others in the pole vault; Archie Bricker, who ran second in the 880-yard run and Howard Tibbs, Larry Hart, Tom Tilly and Eddie Kamasky, members of the winning medley relay team.

Proving that he is the outstanding athlete in the district, Roy Switzer of East Palestine captured individual honors of the meet by scoring 21 points in the four events in which he competed. Switzer, one of the finest athletes to place cleated shoes on the Reilly stadium cinder path in many a year, won the high hurdles and the broad jump, tied for first in the low hurdles and took second in the high jump.

Score in 12 Events

Led by Bob Baehr, who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Warren scored points in 12 of the 16 events on the meet program. Harding High thinclads failed to place in only the shot put, mile run, 440-yard dash and medley relay.

Canton McKinley continued to show that the strength of its track and field squads lies mainly in relay teams when both its half-mile and mile quartets shattered records held by former Canton teams.

The Canton half-mile team, composed of Bob Snyder, Noah Perez, Cleveland Hudson and George Popa, ran its event in 1 minute, 37.7 seconds to break the old mark of 1 minute, 38.8 seconds set by the Canton team of Switzer, Decker, Lancaster and Huff in 1934.

The McKinley mile team of Hudson, Popa, Paul Quinn and Paul Renz turned in the remarkable time of 3 minutes, 32.9 seconds to smash the former mark of 3 minutes, 35 seconds held by Canton's 1930 team of McCormick, Mason, Miller and Schreiber.

Other Record Broken

One other record was broken and one tied in the Class A division of the meet. In the javelin, Welby Broadus of Barborton set a new mark of 177 feet, 5 inches. The old mark of 176 feet, 7 inches was made by Coff of East Palestine in 1935.

Baehr tied Allen of Akron West's 1935 record of 22.7 seconds when he won the 220-yard dash.

Salem's time of 3 minutes, 37.9 seconds in the medley relay constitutes a new record since it is the first time this event has been included in the meet. New marks were also set in hurdle races, which are considered new events this year because of changes made by the Ohio High School Athletic association.

Columbiana won its second title in as many years in the Class B division of the meet, piling up 47 points to outdistance a field of 11 other teams. Cortland was second in Class B with 38 1/2 points while Poland was third with 35 1/2. Leavittsburg fourth with 32 and Springfield Township fifth with 22 1/2.

Qualifiers

Qualifiers for the state meet from Columbiana include: the En-triken twins, Robert and William; Liston; Anglemeyer; Fisher; Det-wiler and Miller.

Three Class B records were broken during the meet. Columbiana's crack relay team of the En-triken twins, Anglemeyer and Liston raced the half-mile event in 1 minute, 35 seconds to better a mark of 1 minute, 37.8 seconds set by Louisville in 1931. Poland's mile relay team, composed of Bowditch, Granger, Bowditch and Slagle, ran its event in 3 minutes, 40.4 seconds to better the old record of 3 minutes, 43.1 seconds set by Leetonia in 1931.

Siebenaller of Leavittsburg ran the 440-yard dash in 53.3 seconds to wipe out the old mark of 54 seconds set by Wagonhauser of Leetonia in 1934.

Jeffries of Greenford was the individual star in Class B, scoring 15 points by winning the javelin throw, tying for first in the high jump and placing second in the shot put.

In both divisions, athletes who placed first, second or third in any event qualified for the state meet. This does not apply to the relay events where only the winning team is permitted to go to Columbus.

Allen Vaults

Some 2,000 fans who witnessed the meet were taken back to the days of 1928 when Lowell "Rib" Allen, former national interscholastic pole vault champion and now head track coach at Boardman, gave a vaulting exhibition. Coach Allen, who holds the district record of 13 feet, 1 1/4 inches made in 1928, demonstrated that he is still able to attain record heights when he cleared 13 feet on his first try. Previous to his attempt at this height, he was successful in vaulting 11, 12 and 12 1/2 feet.

Wilbur J. Springer, Salem High school principal and director of the meet, said today that he wished to thank officials who contributed their services. Outside of those from out-of-town who are given expense money, the officials are not paid.

CANTON LOSES TO PLACENTIA

Lake Nine Noses Out Sugar-ardales, 3-2, At Placentia Sunday

Playing practically air-tight ball behind the five-hit pitching of Schopfer and Roesti, Lake Placentia's independent nine nosed out the Canton Sugarardales, 3-2, at the Lake diamond yesterday.

Placentia scored its runs in the second and sixth innings while Canton tallied in only the sixth frame. Prato, hurling for the Sugarardales, allowed five hits.

Schopfer was given credit for the victory.

"Bulch" Grice led Placentia at bat with two hits out of two trips to the plate, Paul Stratton, Sam Drakulich, Ted Schwartzhoff and Miller connected for the lake team's other hits.

It was the Placentia nine's second victory in as many regularly scheduled games.

LISBON OILERS DEFEAT SALEM

Merchants Lose, 14-2, In Columbiana County Tilt Yesterday

Held to five hits by Simpson of the Lisbon Hanna Oils, the Salem Merchants were defeated 14-2 in a Columbiana County Baseball league game at Dunn Eden park yesterday.

The defeat was the second of the season for the Merchants, who used four pitchers during the contest in an attempt to curb Lisbon's free hitting. Johnny Pukalski, Ray Willis, "Chet" Brautigam and Frank Christy all saw service on the mound.

The Merchants went blank in all but the fourth inning while Lisbon brought in runs in every frame but the second and fifth.

Marrse, Brown and Griffiths were outstanding at bat for Lisbon while Nevin Halverstadt and Mike Sartick looked best for the Merchants.

Narrow Margins
Bold Venture's margins of victory were so narrow, however, that there are many who still declare Bold Venture would have won the derby had he not been roughed at the start or that Granville would have taken the Preakness if Jimmy Sout had saved his mount on the backstretch and not gone wide at the first turn.

Regardless of the arguments, the outcome of the famous Kentucky and Maryland classics turned the $50,000 Belmont stakes into a natural, which should draw one of the largest crowds in New York turf history to Belmont park, June 6.

The mile and one-half race will find three colts, plus C. V. White, the Red Rain, matching strides for the first time this year. Granville was in the derby but never got a chance after tossing his rider at the start.

Bold Venture will be seeking an even more coveted honor in the Belmont. Only three horses, Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, and Omaha, have won the American "triple."

Banner Crowds Turn Out to Witness Top Contenders as Major Leagues Put on Show

Crowd of 28,300 Sees Giants-Cards; Yankees-Indians Draw 27,000; Red Sox-White Sox Attract 23,000; Reds-Dodgers Draw 17,000

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

In spite of the fact that the 1935 pennant winners are having trouble remaining in the first division—or perhaps for that very reason—major league baseball has suddenly become a paying proposition.

A crowd of 28,300 cash customers piled into the polo grounds to see the New York Giants, playing their first Sunday home game of the season, continue their pursuit of the St. Louis Cardinals by trimming Pittsburgh 8 to 6. The Yankees and Indians, first and third respectively in the American league, drew more than 27,000 into Cleveland's league park to see the home team take an 8 to 4 drubbing while Boston's popular Red Sox drew some 23,000 fans to watch them edge out Chicago's White Sox, 8 to 7.

BOLD VENTURE PROVES RIGHT

Deserves to Wear Three-Year Old Crown After Two Victories

By ORLO ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 18—Bold Venture, winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, has proved his right to wear the three-year old crown.

Like a true champion, the Chestnut filer from Morton L. Schwartz's New York stable has shown he can run in front or come from behind and still be on top at the judges stand. He was a front running colt when he beat J. E. Widener's Brevity in the derby. In the Preakness he came from the rear with a dramatic stretch drive to whip William Woodward's Granville by a nose.

After dropping a 6-1 lead, the Red Sox won out over Chicago when Bill

ASSIGN BISHOPS AT M. E. MEETING

General Conference of Church To Come To Close Today

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, May 18.—The assignment of bishops for the next four years was the principal item of business before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today as delegates prepared to end the meeting which opened 18 days ago.

The committee on Episcopacy was ready to recommend the assignment of bishops, including four new members of the board consecrated at services last night. Delegates, anxious to reach final adjournment by noon Tuesday, prepared to vote approval of the assignments.

The conference auditorium was filled last night by a capacity audience as the four bishops-elect, a missionary bishop, and a central conference bishop were consecrated.

New Bishops

The new bishops were Wilbur E. Hammaker, veteran Youngstown pastor; Charles W. Flint, chancellor of Syracuse, N. Y., university; G. Bromley Oxnam, president of DePaul university; and Alexander P. Shaw, new bishop named to succeed Bishop Matthew W. Clair of Covington, Ky.

They, with Missionary Bishop John M. Springer, elected to serve in South Africa, and Central Conference Bishop Roberto Elphick, named by South American Methodists several months ago, took their vows as general superintendents of the church.

Methodist Episcopal bishops are elected for life, subject only to being placed on the retired list at the quadrennial conference nearest their 72nd birthday.

R. O. T. C. Elects

AKRON, May 18.—Members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, Ohio district, elected Major James P. Robinson of Cincinnati president to succeed Major R. J. Thoman of Canton, yesterday at their meeting here.

Other officers elected: Senior vice president, Major William A. Hamrick of Niles; treasurer, Captain R. J. Matznik of Springfield (re-elected); Major Robinson appointed W. O. Clark of Columbus, secretary.

An Army Victory

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 18.—Reserve officers of two army detachments were working on tactical problems at the outskirts of the city when Col. William J. Bacon announced: "I smell a still." The colonel, who also is sheriff of Shelby county, deplored his forces, found and confiscated a 12-barrel still and 2,000 gallons of mash from which had been made a strategic retreat.
